ANGER OVER WASTE PLANT PLAN

FURIOUS: Residents are angry at plans to build a waste transfer station just a few hundred yards from their homes

FURIOUS residents and business owners have slammed plans to build a waste transfer station on a site less than 250 metres away from a housing estate and primary school.

Essex County Council is due to submit a planning application for the waste plant on the Templefields industrial estate in Harlow later this month.

If approved, 57,000 tonnes of household and garden waste from Harlow and Epping will be transferred at the site each year, requiring up to 100 extra collection vehicles to pass through the town a week.

But opponents have described the proposal as "poorly researched" and say the waste facility would be disastrous for the area.

"We feel quite insulted by the way it has been handled," said Cherie Padley, of Tany's Dell. "We only received letters from Essex County Council days before the official public consultation and when we got there it was clear they hadn't done their research."

"They didn't even know that the Tany's Dell Primary School is less than 200 metres from the proposed site!"

She added: "There are so many reasons why we are against these proposals. If the waste transfer station goes ahead it will cause property values to drop, create dust and air pollution, increase noise, encourage vermin and only add to Harlow's already severe congestion problems.

"They assured us that any smell from the waste will be contained, which is plainly rubbish. The waste could have already been sitting around for two weeks before it is collected and then could stay at the site for up to three days."

David Glashan, who owns a warehouse on the Templefields site, said he feared the move would cripple his business.

"Business has been strong up until now and we have plans for expansion," he told the Star. "However, those plans are based on the acquisitions of loans which are assessed against the asset value of my company property."

"This is bound to be severely affected if this waste transfer site gets the go-ahead. I am very, very worried about it."

Mr Glashan added: "I currently have 18 employees at my warehouse and usually employ up to 40 extra

Councillors agree to cut allowances

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HARLOW councillors have agreed to cut the amount they can claim in allowances by up to £200 a year as part of the authority's attempts to cut costs.

The annual basic payment of £4,370 for all 33 ward councillors will be reduced by £100 with immediate effect.

Senior members of the council – including leader Andrew Johnson, new chairman Mike Garnett and opposition leader Mark Wilkinson – will also have their special responsibility allowances slashed by up to £270.

The reductions, announced at Thursday's annual council meeting, come as the authority moves to a new leader and cabinet-style set-up.

Mr Johnson said it was important for councillors to "take the lead" in helping to reduce public spending.

"Earlier this year we asked our staff to take a pay reduction to help save jobs and services, so it's only right that councillors do they same with their allowances," he said.

"The actual cut in all allowances more than mirrors the 1.33 per cent pay reduction staff are taking and I think it's important that councillors take the lead in helping to reduce public spending during these tough times."

He added: "The public expects value for money and we need to ensure every penny counts so we can protect vital front line services."

However, at the same meeting it was also announced the six newly-appointed cabinet portfolio holders would receive a special responsibility allowance of £3,000 – an increase of £335 on the amount given to chairmen of policy working groups under the former executive committee system.

According to the council, the increase reflects the "increased day-to-day responsibility and key decisions portfolio holders will take".

But Labour group leader Mark Wilkinson described the hike as "unjustifiable".

"For Andrew Johnson to sit there and claim to be taking the lead by cutting councillors' allowances while at the same time effectively giving a pay rise to six of his senior group members is misleading to say the least," he told the Star.

"Harlow residents never wanted to switch to a leader and cabinet system in the first place and now even more of their taxes are going into the pockets of a chosen few councillors rather than being spent on retaining services."

workers over holiday periods. Without the loan this will have to be reduced, and that's if people will even still come and work here.

"It's not going to be very nice conditions working next to a waste transfer station."

A county council spokeswoman said that proposals for the development were at the "earliest stage".

"We would like to assure residents that their comments and concerns will be taken into account as the planning application is being drawn up over the forthcoming weeks," she added.

Anti-homes protest at civic centre

RESIDENTS protesting against plans for a major housing development on fields bordering Old Harlow staged a demonstration outside Harlow Civic Centre on Thursday.

Around 30 protesters gathered outside the building ahead of Harlow Council's first meeting of the new municipal year to voice their opposition against proposals to build up to 1,200 new homes on the 49-hectare site off Gilden Way.

The demonstration was staged just three weeks after hundreds joined a protest march through Old Harlow and Churchgate Street.

Campaign co-ordinator Colleen Morrison said the group had been encouraged by the response they received from councillors.

"The consortium proposing to build this estate claim that there is full consensus among our councillors on the need for this development, yet it's clear that this is not the case.

"Local politicians promised us localism, people power and protection of our green spaces during their election campaigns.

"We now expect them to honour their promises. Our councillors must listen to the people of Harlow and Old Harlow, not the fat cat developers."

Memorial ball for 'special little girl'

By VICKY LANE
vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

TWO friends hosting a charity ball to fund a holiday for a grieving Harlow family are calling on the community to help them make their event a success.

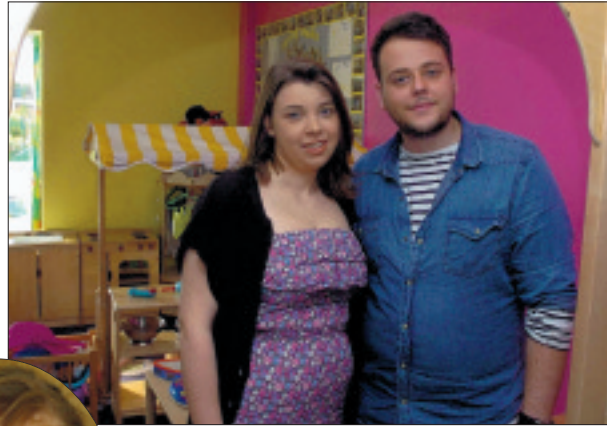

Housemates Vicky Stevens (27) and Mike Barrett (28), of Joyners Field, are organising A Ball for Brooke in memory of four-year-old Brooke Hughes, who passed away last November from swine flu after suffering with ill health all her life.

The friends hope that with the money raised from the fundraiser they can send Brooke's mum and 10-year-old brother on a much-needed holiday after years of caring for Brooke.

"Brooke was a very special little girl but unfortunately she suffered from cerebral palsy and epilepsy," said Vicky, who was Brooke's nursery nurse at Raindrops Nursery in Hare Street.

"She was extremely inspirational and was loved by many, including her doting mother and big brother. They made their whole life about Brooke, endeavouring to make her happy even when this wasn't easy.

"This is why we decided to organise the ball. They themselves missed out on so much in life by caring for Brooke and since she's been gone there is a void in their life. We feel they need time together to re-bond and build some new memories."

A percentage of the funds made at the ball will also be donated to Scope, the UK's leading charity supporting families coping with cerebral palsy.

The ball will be held at Blakes Golf Club in Ongar on June 18 and is set to be a fun-packed evening with a red carpet reception, three-course-dinner, raffle, auction, disco and live music. Mike and Vicky are asking local organisations for their continued support in donating items for the raffle and auction.

"Everyone has been fantastic so far and we have already received some really great donations," said Mike.

"But the more we get the more money we can make to both give Brooke's family the holiday they deserve, and to support other families going through similar heartbreaking circumstances."

He added: "More than anything though, we want to see as many people as possible on the night. If you like dressing up, hearing some great music and having a really fun evening then come along and help support a really good cause."

For more information about the event, including details of how to buy tickets or donate items for the raffle and auction, visit the website at www.ball4brooke.page4.me.

Firefighters to hold family day to raise awareness of disability

FIREFIGHTERS will take a break from their normal duties to help raise awareness of the problems faced by the local disabled community.

The free Disability Awareness Day organised by White Watch at Harlow Fire Station will show what the community has to offer for people with disabilities and what disabled people can offer back.

Sub officer James Taylor explained: "It is going to be a huge community event featuring exciting exhibitions and activities to help raise awareness about disability.

"After being told that there isn't much in Harlow for disabled people, we wanted to help change that and more than anything help the town focus on what disabled people can do rather than what they can't."

The event takes place on Saturday at the fire station in Fourth Avenue from 10am-4.30pm. A full programme of activities will include demonstrations from paralympic athletes, live music, tours of the station and engines, a barbecue and a wheelchair basketball game between firefighters and a local squad.

Almost 30 organisations working with the disabled will be offering advice and promoting the work they do.

"It is a fully-packed day which will have something for everyone, whether they are affected by a disability directly or not," said James. "It is a family event and it would be great to see as many faces as possible on the day."

The day is free although there will be a charge for the barbecue.

Learning to dance the burlesque way

HARLOW women can learn how to strut, pose, shimmy and sizzle their way through life with a six-week burlesque dance course.

The sumptuous new Burlesque Belles group is open to ladies of all ages, shapes, sizes and abilities who want to find their "inner vixen".

Tutor Jem Ayres said: "No experience is necessary to join the classes and they are fun, friendly and definitely not intimidating.

"There is no stripping involved. Instead this course will give participants the opportunity to learn some basic moves and work on technique and routine, so bring a feather boa or scarf to play with!"

The six-week course costs £40 and starts next Thursday (June 9) at 7.30pm at the Great Parndon Community Association in Abercrombie Way. Places are limited and must be booked in advance.

For more information, contact Jem on 07903 188 404.

Party time at charity shop

STAFF from a Harlow charity shop are inviting residents to join the celebrations at their first birthday party.

Music, food and fancy dress will all be on the cards for the St Elizabeth's shop all-day party on Tuesday (June 7), with local food vendors Spice of India and Perfect Fried Chicken catering for the event free of charge.

Sarah Patterson, co-manager of the shop in Bush Fair, said: "We have had an absolutely fantastic first year so wanted to celebrate it properly.

"The shop helps to raise money for the St Elizabeth's Centre in Much Hadham which does a great job supporting local people living with epilepsy and complex learning difficulties.

"We are really proud of what we have raised so far, but want to make sure that everyone knows we are here so thought we'd have a party."

Staff have also put out an additional request for donations of any unwanted furniture.

St Clare lottery

THE winner of the £1,000 first prize in the weekly St Clare Hospice lottery drawn on Friday, May 27 is ticket holder 712210 who lives in Harlow.

The second prize of £100 goes to the holder of ticket number 499463, who lives near Dunmow.

MP praises dedication of town's retained firefighters

HARLOW MP Robert Halfon gained first-hand experience of life as a retained firefighter after spending an evening with the crew at Old Harlow fire station.

With more than half of Essex now covered by retained firefighters, the crew were keen to raise awareness about the vital role they play in the community.

Organiser Jim Collins explained: "The only difference between us and full-time firefighters is that we respond to callouts from pagers whilst we are at home or in our other workplaces. Otherwise we perform all the same duties, just on a cover basis.

"What's more, due to our other professional roles we often bring extra skills to the service which can really help in emergency situations."

Mr Halfon described the crew's dedication as second to none.

"It is not widely known than many of our firemen are semi-volunteers who live and work just five minutes from a fire station and have to be available 24 hours a day, seven days a week," he said.

"Despite the impact on their family lives, every retained firefighter I met was dedicated to their work."

OAPs upset over bus route change

WORRIED pensioners fear a bus operator's plans to re-route a popular service linking the town centre with Old Harlow will leave them stranded.

Arriva is set to redirect its number 8 service along First Avenue from June 13, meaning residents living in Maddox Road, Long Ley, Howard Way, Momples Road and Minchen Way will be left without a direct service to and from the town centre.

The firm said the decision was taken because of low passenger numbers, but elderly and disabled residents who rely on the service to get to the shops have told the Star they will now struggle to get out and about.

Long Ley resident Patricia White (74), who struggles to walk for any more than a short distance after having hip and knee replacement operations, said: "There's lots of us living in the area who rely on the number 8 to get into the town. How are we supposed to get to and from the shops now?"

"It's a very popular route, especially with the elderly and disabled, so I simply cannot understand how Arriva can justify cutting their regular passengers off like this, especially with no prior warning."

She added: "One of the main reasons why I moved to my current home is because there's a bus stop right outside my front door."

"Now I'm either going have to struggle all the way up to First Avenue to catch it or go round the houses on various different buses just to get into town."

Brian Goddard (74), of Vicarage Wood, added: "There's going to be a lot of people left stranded if Arriva goes ahead with its plans to re-route the number 8.

"I can only imagine the money men have decided they're not making enough from the route because most of the regular passengers are of an age where they have free bus passes."

"Without regular buses, a lot of elderly and disabled people wouldn't leave the house at all. We're seeing more and more of the town's routes being altered or cut completely and it's very worrying."

Arriva is also planning to make significant alterations to the routes and timetables of at least seven other Network Harlow services later this month, as well as scrapping the 333 linking Harlow and Thorley Park.

The Star contacted the bus operator for a response but had not received a reply before going to press.

New flats are on the market after office block conversion

ALMOST 100 new flats are now up for sale in Harlow town centre following the transformation of the town's tallest building into luxury apartments.

Developers Luminus has completed work on the conversion of Joseph Rank House, in Kitson Way, into 132 one-bed and two-bed flats, 40 of which have been designated as social rented properties and 12 as affordable homes.

Prices start at £112,500 for a one-bedroom apartment and £132,500 for a two-bed. The block - renamed Joseph Rank Apartments - has its own concierge and porter service for all residents.

Luminus Group chief executive Chan Abraham described the development as a "valuable new asset" to Harlow.

Drama group's plea for Lotto cash votes

MEMBERS of a Harlow performing arts charity shortlisted as semi-finalists in the 2011 National Lottery Awards are calling on residents to help them reach the finals.

Razed Roof, an inclusive drama group for people with and without learning disabilities, is encouraging as many people as possible to vote for them before the deadline of June 20.

The acting troupe, which is competing for Best Art Project, is one of only two Lottery-funded projects in Essex to have made the shortlist.

It was nominated for its Inclusion Through Practice project which featured a series of workshops for people with severe learning disabilities and others to develop a production of Billy Elliot.

Artistic director Annette Lidster said members were delighted to have reached the semi-finals. "It is just brilliant, we are all so proud of ourselves," she said.

"Although we are nominated in the arts category, Razed Roof is so much more than that. We are a special group that really promotes social inclusion."

She added: "It's easy to vote so we're hoping people will support us. It's a fantastic reward for everyone involved in the project to receive national recognition for their hard work."

To register a vote for Inclusion Through Practice, call 0844 836 9672 or log on to www.lotterygoodcauses.org.uk/awards.

Essex town overflowing with real popular culture

HATS off – or more possibly hair extensions off – to the cast of The Only Way Is Essex, which has just scooped a television BAFTA award.

The show beat off mighty competitors like ITV's Downton Abbey to win the YouTube Audience award.

If you haven't seen it, the programme follows a crowd of raucous young party animals who live in a whirl of white stilettos, fake tan and fast cars – a familiar menu of Essex clichés.

Now, I'm not about to get puffed. This is a light entertainment show and you watch it with that in mind. It may also have unexpected benefits for the region.

COUNCIL MATTERS

By Harlow Council leader Andrew Johnson

TOWIE (as it is dubbed) is apparently prompting people to research hotels and trips to Harlow.

Travelcompanyhotels.com said online searches for 'Harlow and hotels' rocketed by 59 per cent in January.

For me, anything that gets people to visit Harlow is good. Because when they do come they will find real popular culture.

This month, for example, the Gibberd Gallery is hosting a show by sculptor John W. Mills. You might actually know more of Mills' work than you think. His design marking the D Day landings was stamped on the back of millions of 50p coins and his memorial to the women of World War II is at the Cenotaph in London.

This is art about the lives of ordinary people, not impenetrable work worshipped by a few. Harlow is hosting the first retrospective show by this artist in 40 years and it's completely free to see.

We are spoiled for sculpture in Harlow, we have work by renowned artists in our midst and even outside supermarkets. How's that for making art accessible!

John Mills thinks we should shout louder about our sculpture in Harlow. Perhaps I'll ask the cast of TOWIE to help with that.

Giant pothole left me with £850 repair bill

A FURIOUS pensioner has accused a county council of negligence after it refused to pay compensation when her car's expensive alloy wheels were shattered by a giant pothole.

Beryl Nichol (69), of Felmongers, Harlow, was driving with her daughter in Thorley Road, Bishop's Stortford, to visit her family back in January when the car hit the huge crater.

It caused extensive damage to a front and back tyre and two alloys of the Mercedes AvantGarde Hatchback, splitting one in half and leaving Mrs Nichol with an £850 repair bill.

Despite calling Hertfordshire County Council the next day to report the incident, she is yet to receive any compensation for the damage that was caused.

"I am lost for words that almost four months on I am still yet to have this sorted," she told the Star. "Without a doubt I feel the county council is negligent and that it is unfair that I should foot the bill.

"I never expected them to respond like they did; I am a 69-year-old widow and think it is just disgusting for them to treat me this way."

According to Mrs Nichol the county council filled in the pothole two days after she complained – and now the authority denies it ever

"Fortunately I went straight down the next day and took pictures of the pothole so I have evidence that it did exist," she said.

"I think it is absolutely terrible, though. They got back to me and said they inspected the road and that there was no pothole, but of course there was because I went down it. They are basically calling me a liar."

She added: "I would like HCC to acknowledge that they are at fault here and hopefully pay some compensation. If it had just been a few hundred pounds then I wouldn't have minded so much, but £850 is a lot of money."

The county council refused to comment specifically on Ms Nichol's case, but a spokeswoman told the Star the authority's highways department had been "working hard" to make road repairs across the county.

"In response to the damage caused by the winter weather, general wear and tear and the increasing number of heavy goods vehicles, the county council undertakes a recovery programme of repair works with the aim of improving our roads as quickly as possible," she added.

Quake rescue team thanked by NZ's High Commissioner

A FIREFIGHTER based in Harlow has been presented with an award by the New Zealand High Commissioner in recognition of his efforts as part of the UK rescue team sent to the country following the devastating earthquakes which hit Christchurch in February.

Sub Officer Gary Wootton was one of six Essex County Fire & Rescue Service officers to receive an award from Derek Leask when he visited the service headquarters in Witham.

"New Zealand has been immensely grateful for all the assistance we have received from nations around the world and in particular the assistance we received from rescue teams like this," said Mr Leask.

"They came to New Zealand at a time when we badly needed trained experts on the ground. They made a sacrifice in their personal lives to come and help in a situation which was not only physically dangerous but also emotionally gruelling and for that we are truly grateful to them.

"It has been a privilege to come and meet them for myself and hear exactly what they saw and did in Christchurch. We are grateful for everything they did."

Chief Fire Officer David Johnson said: "We are honoured to have received the High Commissioner and proud that he came to thank the team in person.

"They all made great personal sacrifice to fly half way round the world and help when New Zealand found itself in the most dire need."

The ceremony was also attended by High Sheriff, Lady Rosemary Ruggles-Brise, Essex Fire Authority chairman Anthony Hedley and senior ECFRS officers.

The other five members of the rescue team receiving the award were Assistant Divisional Officer Rudy Jackson, Firefighter Mark, Station Officer Terry Jewell, Station Officer Len Cleary and Firefighter Nigel Golland.

Expenses cheat peer facing jail sentence

THE former leader of Essex County Council is facing a prison sentence after being found guilty of expenses fraud.

Lord Hanningfield (70) could join four ex-MPs and former Conservative peer Lord Taylor who have already been jailed for dishonestly obtaining thousands of pounds by making false claims for allowances.

A jury of nine women and three men at Chelmsford Crown Court took just four hours to find Lord Hanningfield – who was charged under his real name of Paul White – guilty of six counts of false accounting following an eight-day trial.

He is due to be sentenced in two weeks' time.

The court heard the peer fraudulently claimed Parliamentary expenses totalling £13,379 for overnight stays in London between March 2006 and May 2009 when he was not even in the capital.

This included one occasion in February 2008 when he was actually on board a flight to India.

He also unlawfully claimed £382 in train fares and £147 in mileage by doubling the seven-mile distance from his house to the train station.

The former pig farmer, who lives in West Hanningfield near Chelmsford, had told the court 80 per cent of members of the House of Lords were claiming the maximum allowance.

He said he treated the expenses for staying overnight in London as an allowance for living outside the capital and spent just "a minute a month" completing his claim forms.

"You could sleep on a park bench and claim the money," he told the court.

He said he had felt entitled to claim the allowance as he had needed to return to his home to look after his Burmese mountain dog Jefferson.

He also alleged that most other peers treated the House of Lords as a "club", turning up there for only 10 minutes to claim their daily allowance.

The disgraced peer, who served as a frontbench spokesman on education until the Tory whip was withdrawn following the allegations, insisted his parliamentary duties left him thousands of pounds out of pocket and said he averaged out his claims to recoup some of the money he spent.

When asked during cross examination if he had made claims for journeys and accommodation in London because he felt the system was unfair, Lord Hanningfield answered: "I did it because all the other peers were doing it. I do know other peers who made similar claims but I will not name them."

At one stage he produced a biscuit tin which he claimed was full of receipts for meals and other expenses, mostly dating to 2003-4, which he could have claimed for but had not.

"If you keep in mind that I have had a 40-year career, it adds up to tens of thousands of pounds," he told the court.

● A POLICE investigation into allegations of fraudulent expenses claims at Essex County Council is under way this week.

Although the Kent and Essex Serious Crime Directorate declined to name any individual in connection with the probe, the action follows the conviction of Lord Hanningfield.

A SELF-funded support group helping the homeless netted a healthy cash boost after a charity football match raised £923.

The Helping Hands Club, which runs a drop-in centre in Harlow and also organises home visits for vulnerable people in the area, held the fundraising event to help finance their work.

Organiser Vicky Cooledge said: "It was absolutely brilliant despite the weather being a bit rosey and we are thrilled by how much money was raised. That will keep us going for a long time!"

"I would like to thank everyone who came along. We help to provide vulnerable members of our community with a warm, friendly environment to rest and socialise in and couldn't continue our work without such support."

The drop-in centre runs at St Paul's Church, in College Square, from 6-8pm every Thursday evening and, during the winter months, at the same times on Monday.

For more information about the group's work, contact Vicky on 07795 066873 or email vicky.cooledge@talktalk.net.

Academy fears will grow

SIR, The National Union of Teachers continues to oppose the privatisation of education in England and Wales and the removal of schools from local accountability.

We are completely opposed to the fragmentation of the education system which we are now seeing under the current Government.

We are, therefore, very disappointed that the governors of both Stewards and Burnt Mill schools have chosen to follow Passmores down the Academy route, despite the opposition of teaching staff.

I am assured by the heads of Passmores and Burnt Mill that there will be no attempt to vary teachers' pay and conditions of service and that is good news. Fears will grow, however, when the current heads move on as future heads are not committed to these promises.

The NUT will continue to work constructively with Academy heads in Harlow and support our members in the town.

We are delighted that the governors of Mark Hall School took the intelligently pragmatic step of not committing to Academy status. They plan to review this position in a year's time and remain fully committed as members of the Harlow Education Trust while keen to maintain close ties with the planned Academies.

Murray Sackwild, general secretary
Harlow & Epping Forest NUT

We must embrace change

SIR, John Curry clearly doesn't have any answers to Tony Hall et al if he resorts to using the lyrics of Joni Mitchell songs (Letters, May 19).

He wilfully glosses over the fact there aren't many nice housing estates in Harlow, which is why the professionals who work in the town live outside it, creating our evening traffic gridlock and giving their fat council tax cheques to another local authority.

What people like Mr Curry fail to understand is the Harlow he is trying to preserve has ceased to be economically viable in the modern world, which is why it's falling apart. It is precisely because of the incremental development he supports that the town needs an injection of some 10,000 souls over the next 10 years just to keep the infrastructure as shoddy as it already is.

Self-appointed experts on Gibberd like John Curry and Barbara Burge have been resisting essential development since the 1980s. My view is we have tried it their way – and look where it got us.

Si Hope
Old Harlow (full address supplied)

You can't turn back time

SIR, Wow! Having counted the number of times I have been accused of slurring and sneering, I might be excused in thinking that the backward-facing Harlow Civic Society had it in for me or maybe at least they have been engaged in a group letter writing rant (Letters, May 12 & 19).

Stan Newens, whom I have the highest regard for, makes the valid point that he has worked incessantly to ensure that those in need got homes. However, it is his Labour Party that moved the goalposts for tenants to have the right to buy during their last government and missed the golden opportunity to end developer-led construction.

This was the time to build homes under the auspices of local authorities and enable their tenants to buy cheaply, thus sidestepping the developers' profit. But no, keep every council house you can possibly keep your hands on in the hope they vote Labour. The second example this century of lions led by donkeys. My original letter must have stung John Curry and his cronies to stir up such a hornets nest. However, he and the former Labour council – nearly 50 years in office, don't forget – have been somewhat remiss in their civic duties if they have missed the steady advance of development.

From Church Langley through Newhall and aiming unerringly towards Gilden Way. Then was the time to do something about it. All this time the area was marked on the Town Plan as development land, albeit with special restraint.

All Mr Curry's synchronised rhetoric serves to prove is the truism of the two saddest words in the English language – too late. It may even be the title of a song but I wouldn't know.

Jim Pailing
Chelsea Gardens, Harlow

We all need a place to live

SIR, I am sick and tired of hearing all the to's and fro's of the Gilden Way project and the protesters. Can any of the protestors tell me if any of them are on the council housing list? No, of course they are not. It's a case of 'I have my home and sod those who don't'.

I have a friend who has worked for the past 18 years. He has been on the council housing list and the rent he has paid has been lost because of those in this town who have never worked or only done a few days work and want a free three-bed house, free rent and free council tax.

Now I am being thrown out of my three-bedroom bungalow and pushed into a one-bedroom place.

If they haven't got a job why should they get free housing? Their parents should have to put them up or they should have the babies taken from them and given to someone who has a job and can afford to support them.

I'm sure there are many homeless people who would agree with this.

POST: Star Letters, 6 West Gate, Harlow, Essex CM20 1JW EMAIL: star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Lack of playground signs comes as no real surprise

SIR, I was disgusted, but not surprised, to read that the council failed to erect safety warnings at the new playground in Potter Street – resulting in injuries to at least three children – because there hadn't been enough money left in the budget (Star, May 26).

They've been fixing the lock on the back gate at the small block of flats I live in every few months for the past 16 years but they refuse to use a sturdier model as the rules state they only replace like for like.

Explaining that it would be cheaper to use a strong lock than pay someone to replace a useless one umpteen times fell on deaf ears.

With this lack of foresight and obvious inability to make sensible decisions regarding simple matters, what hope is there for children's safety?

I'd say I hope the parents sue the council but this will only result in the people of Harlow losing out without punishing those responsible for poor planning.

In a sense we are held hostage, which is unfair. Perhaps a better solution would be to sack the person responsible for such negligence.

Cassandra Lewis
Five Acres, Harlow

Slow down outside school

SIR, May I use your letters page to appeal to motorists who insist on racing down Paringdon Road during the period when children are crossing to and from Milwards Primary School to think twice about their speed.

It is not the fault of the children or parents that Essex County Council mistakenly removed the traffic calming scheme in April 2010.

I can understand motorists are reluctant to stop to let children cross the road safely, but until the council restores a road narrowing scheme as was promised in July 2010 a bit of common sense would not go amiss.

At the same time I would like to remind parents to teach their children to cross the road safely for this is a life skill. Dashing across the road between parked cars is dangerous and confuses the motorists.

There is a designated crossing point outside of the school with railings on both sides of the road which I urge parents to use for everyone's benefit.

Philippa Johnson
Moorfield, Harlow

Cost of a civilised society

SIR, Aran Black has previously expressed some strange views in these columns but he has surpassed himself this time (Letters, May 26).

Back to the Victorian Poor Law! Junk Magna Carta and the innumerable other measures that have been necessary to curb the power of the centre in the centuries since! Even the present Government's localism gloss on some of its policies go out of the window allowing Whitehall to make decisions about everything from filling potholes to refuse collection and disposal, and from planning applications to subsidising cultural events. The mind boggles!

Mr Black quotes the sad cases of Victoria Climbié and Baby P, but does he really think that a national service would have been more likely to prevent these tragedies, which in any case get so much publicity precisely because they are so exceptional?

As a pensioner with only a modest occupational pension on top of my state pension, I suspect that my income is well below Mr Black's, yet I do not begudge a penny of my council tax. Apart from essential services such as education, social services, fire service, roads, the crematorium (we all use that in the end) etc, I value the sporting, community and cultural facilities that make up a civilised society, even the ones I do not personally use.

Frank Jackson
Kingsmoor Road, Harlow

Ignore the taunts of idiots

SIR, I had to respond to the letter regarding the incident from the the lady who was taunted in The Stow (Letters, May 19). What happened to her isn't nice at all.

I suffer from much the same on a weekly basis from idiots who should know better. Although the jibes I receive are not weight-related, I learned to ignore such vile people a long time ago.

I would tell her she is by far the better person than these small-minded idiots ever will be and as hard as it can be sometimes, don't let such idiots get to you.

If the people that acted in such a repugnant way actually took a moment to look at themselves, they would probably never comment on others ever again.

Jamie Warr
address supplied - Editor

Preserving memories

SIR, I was pleased to read your report on the restoration of the Oddfellows Terrace Memorial (Star, May 19). All memorials deteriorate with time so it is vital that everything possible is done to preserve the memories of the people recorded on them.

Your readers may be interested to know that volunteers from the Essex Society for Family History have for many years been recording the inscriptions on memorials across the county, including war memorials, gravestones and other plaques. The recordings are published in volumes lodged at the Essex Record Office and at the Museum of Harlow.

To date we have already recorded almost 180,000 names, including those on all the war memorials in Park Hill. We are currently working on the churchyard at St Mary's in Churchgate Street.

Attack victim hit over head with crowbar

POLICE are appealing for witnesses after a man was hit over the head with a crowbar when two masked men forced their way into his home.

The men, both white and wearing balaclavas, pushed their way in to the house in Spring Hills, Harlow, on the night of Sunday, May 8.

They hit the victim over the head with the bar and then left without stealing anything.

The victim was taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital where he received five stitches to a cut.

Investigating officer Detective Constable Kev Winn said it was an unprovoked attack.

Anyone with any information about the incident should call DC Winn at Harlow police station on 0300 333 4444.

Growing support for technical college bid

HARLOW MP Robert Halfon has welcomed a groundswell of new support for his campaign to bring a University Technical College to the town.

The Conservative backbencher has been working closely with Harlow College to prepare an application to set up a UTC on the Velizy Avenue site and this week Harlow Council added its name to the list of supporters backing the bid.

"If we get this it would transform the lives of young Harlow people," Mr Halfon told the Star this week.

The bid was due to be submitted yesterday (Wednesday). If successful, the UTC would offer students aged 14-19 qualifications ranging from apprenticeships to vocational training in subjects including plumbing, health science, journalism, engineering and construction.

It could be up and running by September 2013.

Mr Halfon added: "I have done this because I am passionate about giving young people opportunities and skills and helping them to get good jobs.

"I am also passionate about social justice, and a University Technical College together with a growth in apprenticeships will help achieve this."

Council leader Andrew Johnson said the project would also give Harlow's economy a significant boost, with local employers benefiting from new investment and the pick of a pool of highly-skilled new graduates eager to take their first steps in the world of work.

"Harlow's educational credentials are becoming stronger all the time with improving results and a new university building taking shape," he said.

"The UTC will make the town even more attractive to employers, as Harlow will be able to offer a pool of students with high quality technical skills absolutely right for the jobs market.

"It will make us a significant location for students not just from Harlow but also Hertfordshire and further afield and represent a multi-million pound investment in the town."

Award-winning performers

TALENTED young students from a Harlow performing arts school got the red carpet treatment after scooping high achievement honours at the Harlow Arts Awards.

Phoenix Theatre School, based at Burnt Mill School on First Avenue, nominated nine of its students for the Jack Petchey Foundation-sponsored event, with school principal Phil Dale also picking up a leadership award at the ceremony at Harlow Playhouse.

"I'm really pleased with the way Phoenix has grown over the past couple of years and it's nice to be able to reward the students for all their hard work and determination on nights like these," said Mr Dale.

"The Jack Petchey Foundation does some fantastic work in the community and for nine of our students to win awards is a fantastic achievement and a real boost for their self-confidence and personal development."

Harlow MP Robert Halfon, who presented the awards, added: "It was wonderful to see some of the amazingly talented Harlow youngsters getting the recognition they truly deserve."

HEALTH CHECK

in partnership with the PAH NHS Trust

Check for the warning signs of skin cancer

Do you regularly examine yourself for signs of skin cancer or really know the dangers of sunburn or excessive tanning?

Sun Awareness Week is the British Association of Dermatologists' annual campaign to raise awareness of skin cancer.

The campaign combines prevention and detection advice by encouraging people to check their skin and discouraging the use of sunbeds in light of the associated risks of skin cancer.

Research shows that skin cancer detection is often delayed because people fail to check their skin regularly, they don't know what to check for and they are reluctant to seek medical advice.

Early detection is vital, as is the importance of checking moles using the 'ABCD E-asy' rules.

There are three types of skin cancer and all look different. The 'ABCD-Eas'y' rules show a few of the changes that might indicate a melanoma, which is the severest form of skin cancer.

As skin cancers vary you should tell your doctor about any changes to your skin, even if they are not similar to those mentioned here.

Remember, if in doubt check it out.

ABCD E-asy

Cystic fibrosis

CYSTIC fibrosis is a common inherited disease. It affects more than 8,500 children and young adults in the UK, where five babies are born with the condition every week.

Cystic fibrosis affects the internal organs, especially the lungs and digestive system. It causes them to become clogged with thick, sticky mucus.

It is caused by a faulty gene that controls the movement of salt and water in and out of cells in the body. When cystic fibrosis occurs, too much salt and not enough water pass into the cells and turn the body's secretions, which normally act as a lubricant, into a thick mucus.

This mucus clogs up many of the body's tubes, ducts and passageways so they cannot work properly. In the lungs, this leads to frequent and severe infections.

The faulty gene that causes cystic fibrosis is recessive. This means that you need two faulty genes (one from each parent) to inherit the disease. Around 1-in-25 people in the UK are carriers of the cystic fibrosis gene. Carriers do not have the disease but their children may inherit it.

Cystic fibrosis causes recurrent chest infections, poor growth and related health problems such as diabetes and infertility.

There is no cure for cystic fibrosis but many treatments and therapies can make it easier to live with.

It is difficult to predict life expectancy for people with cystic fibrosis as the condition affects everyone differently. According to statistics, around half of all people with cystic fibrosis can expect to live beyond the age of 38.

Why it is important to talk about dying

WHILST 68 per cent of people say they are comfortable with talking about death, fewer than a third have discussed their wishes around dying.

The Princess Alexandra Hospital NHS Trust supported Dying Matters Week in a bid to change attitudes and behaviours towards death, dying and bereavement.

As a society only 35 per cent of people have discussed their wishes with family, friends or carers. If people do not talk openly, their wishes may not be met at the end of their life.

A lack of conversation is perhaps the most important reason why people's wishes go ignored or unfulfilled. It has been said that what is feared most about dying is the associated loss of control. By empowering patients to express their wishes, that control can be restored.

Doctors and nurses at PAH are encouraging family and friends to discuss simple matters so the final wishes of the patient can be granted at the end of their life.

For more detail about the Dying Matters campaign, visit www.dyingmatters.org. Or for advice and support during the final few months of a person's life visit the National Council for Palliative Care website at www.npcp.org.uk.

BURNT MILL Pupils who helped a local youth counselling service secure funding for a new support centre were treated to a meeting with a TV star when they attended the opening ceremony as special guests. Students already benefiting from the services of the Young Concern Trust rallied support within their school to help the counselling organisation get the votes needed for a National Lottery grant vital to completing the development. As a reward, they got to meet celebrity Joe Thomas from the hit E4 show Inbetweeners during the grand opening of YCT's new building in Maddox Road.

Inclusion manager Tracey Taylor said: "The pupils involved with the campaign have themselves gone through some really tough times so it is commendable for them to dedicate themselves to helping YCT get their new premises. 'They have been a real credit to the school.'"

SPINNEY JUNIOR Pupils braved the icy chill of the Antarctic without leaving their classroom when they took part in an online question and answer session with a professor from the International Antarctic Institute.

As part of their Polar regions project, children took it in turns to ask Professor Andrew McMinn, a former pupil at the Cooks Spinney school who now lives in Australia, questions about his Arctic and Antarctic adventures.

Teacher Sarah Brennon said: "The children prepared the questions they wanted to ask before we connected to Professor McMinn and took it in turns to speak.

"They asked him all about his adventures, the equipment he uses, the animals he has seen and so on. It was really fantastic and a very memorable way for them to learn.

"Many children also got to experience using Skype for the first time so it was a really good learning experience all round."

STEWARDS Four youngsters from the Parnall Road school have been praised for their compassion after rushing to the aid of a fatally injured cat after it was hit by a car.

Alfie Bate, Aiden Warwick, Patrick McGovern and Jordan Spowart had been on their way to school when they witnessed the incident.

According to passerby Olive Russell, who was so moved by the Year 9 boys' actions that she called the school to inform them, they moved the injured cat away from the road and called the RSPCA and police. Sadly, the cat died shortly after.

Assistant headteacher Marie Erwood said: "Mrs Russell saw this happen and was so full of praise for the kindness and compassion of the four boys that she wanted the school to know.

"All the boys have been praised and recognised across the school for being such worthy young citizens. We are very proud of them."

Last chance to join midnight ramblers

THERE'S still time to join the hundreds of people on a starlit walk around Harlow to raise money for St Clare Hospice – but you'll have to be quick.

The deadline for entries to the 10km Midnight Walk, which takes place on Saturday, June 18, is next Friday (June 11).

You can sign up online, by calling the fundraising team on (01279) 773750 to request an application form or by sending off the coupon printed on this page.

So far more than 1,000 people have done just that – but the more who take part, the more money will be raised to help patients like Madge.

Tracy Stratford, events fundraiser for St Clare, said: "This week I have spent some time with Madge and it has been an absolute pleasure.

"We talked for a while about the care she has been receiving and how the hospice has made a difference to her. Like Madge, hundreds of patients are cared for here at St Clare each year and events like the Midnight Walk pay for that specialist support."

She added: "Our target for this year's walk is 1,500 and we are nearly there. By talking to Madge this week, this has really given me the extra drive and enthusiasm to make the 2011 walk bigger, better and a huge success. I just hope that it will impact on the local community, too.

"We really do need everyone to help us. Every penny raised, every walker taking part will make the difference to someone living with a terminal illness here in Harlow and its surrounding towns."

The entertainment starts in the Water Gardens at 8pm and signing in will commence at 8.30pm. Shortly before the start of the walk at 10.30pm, all those taking part will be invited to join in a zumba-style warm-up.

Remember, there is only one week left to register so you need to be quick to sign up. Get your friends, family and colleagues together for a night out with a difference."

Registration costs £15 and everyone taking part will receive a goody bag and a special 'I painted the town pink' T-shirt.

It's only once a year that the town turns pink at midnight. Be there by signing up today.

New chapter in history of Terlings Park

vicky.lane@hertsexnews.co.uk

THE story of Terlings Park could soon have to be updated after the current owners applied for planning permission for the residential redevelopment of the sprawling site in Gilston.

But as East Herts Council considers the plans ahead of making a decision later this month, Nostalgia thought it was the ideal time to look back at the fascinating history of the area.

Today the site houses a research and development centre which was once used by pharmaceutical Merck, Sharp & Dohme. But according to A History of Terlings Park by Alistair Robinson, the area was once a rural retreat for wealthy families.

"Terlings Park has a long history," wrote Robinson. "It has continually changed with times with its various owners changing its function."

Believed to date back to the 14th century as part of Pishiobury Manor, Terlings is thought to have taken its name from its first owners. Documents show that the Terling family lived in the area at the time. However, the site's first recorded owners were the Howe family in 1547, who came to own 150 acres and were considered relatively wealthy.

"Owners often came from the professional classes, though were not part of high society," wrote Robinson. "Terlings was never considered grand; it was always in the shadow of nearby New Place Manor at Gilston Park."

After the Howes moved on, rapid social change brought a succession of owners to the area including, in the 17th century, the Turvins – a remarkably successful family whose fortune was made in the haberdashery trade.

They were followed by opera diva Madame Curator and her investor husband in 1842 and then, in the late 19th century, Bank of England governor Reginald Johnston, whose family had made their wealth trading coffee in Brazil.

Each owner's different backgrounds reflected new sources of innovation and wealth for Terlings, yet despite its location on the border of two of England's best farming counties – Hertfordshire and Essex – farming was never a sole function for the site and agriculture quickly gave way to residential use for people wanting to escape the city.

However it wasn't until 1948 when, as Robinson notes, "the maintenance of country homes and estates by well-endowed families was becoming increasingly tenuous", that the first institutional owners of Terlings Park – the Harlow Development Corporation – came on the scene.

Purchasing the area for the post-war new town development, the ownership allowed the transition for the site to become as it is today, one occupied by commercial institutions.

A COUPLE of weeks ago we published this aerial photograph taken in 1953 by Ted Blackwell during his national service as a gunner in the RAF. The picture was sent in by Ted's son Simon, who thought it may show part of Harlow New Town – possibly the Ladyshot and Momples Road area – under construction.

Responses from readers have been flying in and all have agreed with Simon's suggestion. Chris Newnham, of Parsonage Leys, said he thought Simon was "spot on" while former Harlow Council leader Mike Danvers, of Tunmeade, agrees it was an aerial view of Mark Hall with Ladyshot under construction. Emma Hills, of Churchfield, added that the school being built is The Spinney, and Eric Randall, of Momples Road, believes that the dark area on the opposite side of the road is where Felmongers would be built.

The only disparity came from Christine Golding, of Tye Green, who noted that the Queen's Coronation – which Simon had suggested as the anniversary which could have been the motive for the reece flight logged on June 10 – was actually June 2. She suggests that maybe the flight was for the Trooping the Colour to mark the Queen's birthday instead.

Simon, who lives in Sussex, expressed his gratitude to everyone who responded, adding: "It's a lovely piece and helps to keep my Dad's memory alive."

25 years ago

Local Labour party members have announced that they are boycotting The Humming Bird public house in Elm March because they claim that a Harlow gay group is banned from meeting there. Harlow Gay Friends say a booking they made was cancelled by the pub because staff feared they could catch AIDs. A spokesperson for the pub denied there was a ban but refused to comment further.

Harlow Woodcraft Folk are devastated after burglars raided their hut for the second time in just nine months. Among the seven items stolen from the Fernhill Lane site were those donated by members of the public and the Co-operative Society after the last theft. The total value of the items taken is estimated to be around £500.

EastEnders Gillian Taylforth, who plays Kathy Beale in the hit BBC soap, will make a guest appearance at the St James School summer spectacular next week. Gillian has agreed to pop along to meet fans and sign autographs after the Friends of St James said they wanted to pull out all the stops to provide a fun day for families.

The council's new club for young people with disabilities – Sam's Place – was officially opened last week. The new centre and adventure playground will be used four days a week by the MENCAP play group and special schools in the area. It was named after the last resident of Kingsmoor House, Sam Robinson, who lived in the loft of the stable block.

Golf club pitches in with a donation to day centre

CAPTAINS from a local golf club have presented a cheque for £6,800 to a day centre for older people after swinging into action with a series of fundraising events.

David Green and Helena Charles, men's and ladies' captains at the Manor Of Groves Golf Club last year, held raffles and quiz nights throughout their year in office to raise money for The Hailey Centre in Sawbridgeworth, which organises activities for over 55s in the area.

Club press officer Val Walker said: "We were all keen to support the Hailey Centre as our charity this year as we know how older people often get left out with these things. "The aim was to raise enough money for them to buy a much-needed new cooker but in the end we managed to raise enough for three new cookers so were very proud of how well it all went."

Hailey Centre chairwoman Angela Alder expressed her gratitude. "It is absolutely fantastic to receive such a huge amount," she said.

"Unfortunately we lost 25 per cent of our funding recently so it really couldn't have come at a better time. We are immensely grateful to the Manor Groves Golf Club and really appreciate how hard they worked to raise so much money."

She added: "It will go towards various development projects including the new cooker and some blinds so that we can finally run our cinema club all year round!" Pictured, left to right, at the presentation of the cheque are Helena Charles, David Green, Gill Hawkins, Angela Alder, Jane Chambers and Robin Davidson.

Zumbathon fundraiser for cancer charity

SMOOTH movers can strut their stuff at a charity Zumbathon in Harlow on Saturday to raise money for the fight against cancer.

The two-hour workout in aid of Cancer Research UK is open to men, women and children.

Instructor Katie Clegg said: "Zumba is for everyone. Even if you have two left feet you can still move and enjoy yourself!"

"Participants don't even have to do the full two hours as all the money will go towards supporting a brilliant cause." Entry is £13 and tickets are being sold up to and on the day of the event, which takes place at the Latton Bush Centre. Registration is at 11.45am with a noon start.

Mini miss is Britain's strongest schoolgirl!

AN 11-year-old schoolgirl who can lift almost her own bodyweight above her head has been named Britain's strongest schoolgirl.

Charley Craig, who lives in Glasgow, is only 4ft 7ins tall and weighs just over five stone but she can lift heavier weights than every other youngster in the gym where she trains.

She follows a rigorous weekly training schedule to stay on top of her game and hopes to win a gold medal at the Commonwealth Youth Games.

Charley told reporters: "It is really hard work and I'm sore most of the time. But then I look back and I'm happy with what I've done."

"My coach says I've got the potential to do well and go really far. The adults in the gym give me loads of support."

"When I can't do it they say 'up, up, up' and they encourage me so I can concentrate and do it."

Charley's mum Amanda helps her daughter by ensuring she sticks to a strict diet of pasta, fruit and vegetables, while her 20-year-old brother Daniel – himself a competing weightlifter – has become his sister's coach. He said: "I couldn't be more pleased with her progress."

"Her small size is actually an advantage because she has less of her own bulk to heave up. We're all really proud of her."

Comedy night is a festival special

THE Square is set for another side-splitting season of exclusive stand-up shows from comics hoping to impress at this year's Edinburgh Festival.

The fun begins on Sunday night when regular compere John Mann presents full-length performances from two of the finest comedians on the circuit.

Headlining will be improvisational comic Phil Nichol, an IF.Com Award winner and three times nominee of the Chortle Best Headliner award. He will be performing his energetic new show The Simple Hour ahead of its Edinburgh debut.

Described by his peers as "mind-blowingly brilliant", the multi-talented Canadian comic is also known for his work as an actor, producer, presenter, writer and musician and has appeared on TV shows including Never Mind The Buzzcocks and Broken News.

rogues gallery of passport snaps collected from family, friends, lovers, strangers, stalkers and killers collected over the past 25 years.

Every miniature mugshot tells a story and Susan will regale The Square audience with some of the best – accidentally starting a riot, setting her hometown on fire, and, of course, the Hitler scab.

Tickets for the show, which will also feature John's infamous raffle, are £7 from (01279) 30500. Doors open at 7.30pm and the performance begins at 8.30pm.

REVIEW

Outside Edge
Global Productions, Harlow Playhouse

CHEATING husbands, burning cars and boozed-up batsmen. It's just not cricket, is it?

But as a gentle satire of suburban middle class mores, Richard Harris's classic comedy Outside Edge is up there with some of Ayckbourn's best-loved work.

Of course, as the playwright himself was at pains to point out, the play has very little to do with the thwack of leather on willow. But as a backdrop for the trials, tribulations and temper tantrums of a hysterical bunch of Middle Englanders, the village green on a lazy Saturday afternoon is hard to beat.

It is the brilliantly simple juxtaposition between this reassuringly cosy setting and the increasingly intolerable characters invading it that drives this most straightforward of comedies, which may have been sparse on big belly laughs but more than tickled the ribs of an audience clearly immersed in a typically engaging performance by the supremely talented team at Global.

True, the play could never be described as taxing on either cast or audience, but without a cast of solid all-rounders and several star turns this could have merely been a pleasant but forgettable foray into satire for beginners.

The indomitable Richard Holliss was once again on sparkling form as increasingly irritable club captain Roger, whose whiter-than-his-whites image and ostensibly perfect marriage to pillar of the community Miriam (another wonderful performance from Elaine Elliott) are both hit for six by eyebrow-raising revelations about a sordid liaison in Dorking.

Playing his role with a straight bat and relying on his impeccable comic timing and easy charm for laughs, Holliss could have stolen the show were it not for two excellent performances from Chris Millington – brilliant as bawdy but cuddly spin-bowler Kevin – and Susan Macpherson, whose outrageous performance as his broad-shouldered, brick-laying wife Maggie drew the night's biggest laughs.

Elsewhere, David Reed was laudably louche as rakish ladies' man Dennis, while the ever-reliable Keith Cummings and an ice-cool Rose Floyd had a simmering rapport as fretful Bob and his acid-tongued wife Ginny.

Although this was hardly a stretch for such a talented company, especially one with such a flair for comedy, Outside Edge deservedly bowled over the audience with another first-class delivery.

Heroes with the X factor go back to the beginning

X-MEN: FIRST CLASS certificate 12A, 2h11m

VERY good things come to those who wait. After the sinking ship of Pirates Of The Caribbean: On Stranger Tides and the pounding headache of The Hangover Part 2, the omens were distinctly ill for this summer season.

Thankfully British director Matthew Vaughn, who lifted spirits last year with Kick-Ass, repeats the feat with this exhilarating, action-packed prequel based on the hugely popular Marvel Comics.

After the lukewarm reception to spin-off X-Men Origins: Wolverine, Vaughn delivers a sleek and satisfying opening chapter that establishes the mythology of the iconic characters and provides tantalising glimpses of where the series can go next.

The film opens in Poland 1944 with young Erik Lehnsherr (Michael Fassbender) unlocking his devastating power of magnetism thanks to the provocation of sadistic concentration camp commandant (Kevin Bacon).

At the same time in New York, young telepath Charles Xavier (James McAvoy) meets shapeshifter Raven Darkholme (Jennifer Lawrence) and they become close friends.

Fast forward to 1962 and Erik is hunting down the commandant to exact revenge for his parents. It transpires that the German officer has re-invented himself as power-hungry globe-trotter Sebastian Shaw, who intends to spark nuclear war between Russia and America aided by mutant sidekicks Emma Frost (January Jones), Azazel (Jason Fleming) and Riptide (Alex Gonzalez).

Standing in his way are Charles, Raven and five gifted mutants – Angel (Zoe Kravitz), Banshee (Caleb Landry Jones), Beast (Nicholas Hoult), Darwin (Edi Gathegi) and Havok (Lucas Till).

At first Charles and Erik work together to defeat Sebastian, their common enemy. However, a grave rift opens between the mutant leaders, lighting the fuse on the brutal and bloody war between the X-Men and Magneto's brotherhood.

X-Men: First Class is a terrific reinvention, adhering closely to the comics to appease fans while entertaining cinema audiences with a tight script, snappy editing and directorial brio.

McAvoy and Fassbender are assured actors capable of heart-breaking emotion, and there are plenty of tears here as nuclear war looms.

The only quibble is Fassbender's wavering accent, which jigs from Europe to County Kerry and resonates so strongly of the Emerald Isle by the closing frames that you have to question if the Polish prologue was fantasy.

Supporting performances, particularly Lawrence and Hoult, are compelling and Bacon is a suitably boo-some pantomime villain.

A hilarious cameo by an X-Men favourite results in the film's only swear word and there are some tongue-in-cheek references to the future, like when Charles quips: "The next thing you know I'll be going bald!"

We await his shiny bonce with feverish anticipation in the inevitable sequel.

The Hangover Part 2 Todd Phillips' sequel to the hit 2009 comedy sees the same characters finding themselves in a similar nightmare scenario. Dentist Stu Price (Ed Helms) is set to marry Lauren (Jamie Chung) in a traditional ceremony in Thailand. Best friends Phil Wenneck (Bradley Cooper), Doug Billings (Justin Bartha) and Alan Garner (Zach Galifianakis) are invited and while Doug makes an early exit, the others party at the resort with the bride-to-be's brother Teddy (Mason Lee). The next morning, Phil, Stu and Alan wake in a sleazy Bangkok hotel room with no recollection of the night before and no sign of Teddy. The trio scour the city to find him, crossing paths with shady businessman Kingsley (Paul Giamatti), flamboyant criminal Mr Chow (Ken Jeong) and a larcenous monkey along the way.

Diary Of A Wimpy Kid 2: Rodrick Rules Seventh grader Greg Heffley (Zachary Gordon) thinks all of his problems are solved now he has moved up a year at Westmore Middle School. Alas, insults in the corridor are nothing compared to the bullying he suffers at home from older brother Rodrick (Devon Bostick). Meanwhile, Greg tries to catch the eye of pretty classmate Holly Hills (Peyton List) while embarking on misadventures with long-suffering pal Rowley (Robert Capron) and classmates Fregley (Grayson Russell) and Chirag Gupta (Karan Brar).

Pirates Of The Caribbean: On Stranger Tides Jack Sparrow (Johnny Depp) joins forces with Barbossa (Geoffrey Rush) to locate the Fountain Of Youth: one of the world's last undiscovered treasures. The quest becomes infinitely more perilous when Jack is forced aboard the Queen Anne's Revenge captained by legendary pirate Blackbeard (Ian McShane), who is also seeking the Fountain with the help of his sexy daughter, Angelica (Penelope Cruz). Using all of his guile, Jack must somehow outwit Blackbeard and Angelica and reach the Fountain before his rivals. En route, he crosses paths with King George II (Richard Griffiths) and his father, Captain Teague (Keith Richards).

Thor In the realm of Asgard ruled by Odin (Anthony Hopkins) and his wife Frigga (Rene Russo), Thor (Chris Hemsworth) is an arrogant heir to the throne. He acts first and thinks later, endangering the lives of his trusty companions Volstagg (Ray Stevenson), Sif (Jaimie Alexander), Hogun (Tadanobu Asano) and Fandral (Joshua Dallas) by launching a suicidal attack on the Frost Giants led by the menacing Laufey (Colm Feore). Odin strips his son of his powers and his legendary war hammer, and dispatches him to Earth as punishment.

THIS week's cover property in The Chase on the award-winning Newhall development in Harlow is a five-bedroom home offering everything you could wish for when it comes to contemporary living.

Three sun rooms, a landscaped courtyard garden, large kitchen/dining room, four bathrooms and even a detached annexe. Why not see for yourself at an open day this Saturday (June 4) from 10.30am-1.30pm.

A covered front door leads into a spacious, 29ft-long hallway with grey slate floor and light wood laminate staircase rising to the first floor. There are doors leading to the two ground floor bedrooms, the first of which has patio doors into a sun room and an en-suite shower room. The second ground floor bedroom is currently used as an entertainment room/bar.

On the first floor is the kitchen/dining room, lounge and a cloakroom. The lounge has a full-length window to the front aspect and patio doors onto a sun room.

The modern kitchen/diner features a range of stylish light oak units, integral appliances and marble work surfaces.

On the second floor are two bedrooms and a family bathroom. The master bedroom has a window to the rear of the property and patio doors onto a sun room. An attractive high ceiling and an en-suite with power shower are great finishing touches to this room.

The second bedroom has two windows to the front and a large set of six-door wardrobes.

The fifth bedroom is located on the third floor. This has a window to the front of the property and a large walk-in storage cupboard/loft space.

The detached annexe has a ground floor reception with a spiral staircase rising to an office/treatment room and a door through to a utility room.

WANDERING around the Chelsea Flower Show last week, I was struck by the amount of show gardens that were linked to the home – and more specifically the kitchen.

Chelsea usually provides designers with the chance to show off and there were, of course, those who did. Diarmuid Gavin's award-winning bright pink pod suspended 82ft in the air as the centre piece of his Irish Sky Garden was one interesting example.

But alongside the theatrical there was definitely a recurring theme of good old-fashioned home planting. The B&Q garden was bursting at the seams with fruits, vegetables and edible flowers and main sponsors, M&G Investments, had a fabulous 'kitchen garden with a twist' designed by Bunny Guinness.

"Chelsea is all about inspiration and this year the idea that the garden can be a valuable asset to your home will be reinforced," one of the organisers told me.

This is certainly backed up by location specialists UpMyStreet.com, which claims a staggering 73 per cent of users prefer a property with a garden than one with a guest room. Halifax also say that buyers are willing to pay a £10,000 premium to secure a property with a garden.

Making the most of your outdoor space can create a show-stopping feature that will help sell your home. And if you're selling at this time of year, it's important to keep your garden in tip-top condition.

It needs to appeal to different buyers to maximise the value it adds to your property. One way of achieving this is through demonstrating the various functions the space can perform.

Clutter-free green spaces make good children's play areas or sunbathing spots. Adding some garden furniture to your patio area will create an al fresco dining area. Other ideas include a vegetable patch at the bottom of your garden to grow your own fresh produce, or a built-in barbecue area.

Saab gives a 4X for crossover

By Matt Joy

SPARE a moment's thought for Saab. It's a car company that enjoys almost universal respect: when was the last time you heard someone have a go at a Saab product or a Saab driver?

It's combination of Swedish origins, a reluctance to follow the crowd and products that don't slavishly follow the fickle finger of fashion hold a certain appeal.

Not that Saab is a company that will ignore its customers, however. The recently updated 9-5 received some detailed tweaks in response to customer feedback, and now there's a whole new car that arguably meets a need – Saab is going soft-roading with the 9-4X.

The 'X' suffix indicates four-wheel drive and off-road capability, and however modest it is, most owners will rarely trouble more than a raised kerb. That makes it more of a crossover, a tag that Saab is happy for the 9-4X to wear and in doing so it takes on a host of premium rivals.

Unlike some of those rivals, the 9-4X successfully transplants the family DNA onto the SUV template. It shares many of its styling cues with the 9-5 saloon, including the ice-block headlights, three-piece grille and full-width rear reflector.

It also has the 'floating roof' design, created by having a wide rear pillar and blacked-out front pillars. For a class of car that is often regarded as a little unsuited or ostentatious, the 9-4X manages to look suitably tough without inviting invective from other road users.

A modest climb into the cabin reveals a layout that again follows a sound mix of practicality and style. Anyone familiar with the inside of a 9-5 will be at home here, as the 9-4X carries over much of the dashboard's design and function. That's no bad thing, however, as Saabs have always had a firm eye on the need for good ergonomics and a few miles behind the wheel confirms that everything is as it should be.

Space is certainly not in short supply either. Those up front enjoy the traditional high-riding SUV seating position, but even in the back the view out is very good. Heads and legs will be able to stretch out, and because the 9-4X is a five-seater only, luggage space is not a problem.

The boot is one of many places that show the clever and practical design, as it uses a clever under-floor storage compartment to stow the metal boot divider – another smart feature. There are stacks of cubby holes, double door bins, a huge glovebox and a cup holder with two levels to suit different sizes of cup – this is clearly a cabin that benefits from plenty of forethought.

In terms of its mechanical make-up, the 9-4X shows its focus on the American market. Saab's XWD system is fitted as standard, putting drive to all four wheels, while under the bonnet there is the 2.8-litre twin turbocharged V6 already seen in the 9-5 mated to a six-speed automatic gearbox.

With just the one engine option at present, diesel fans will have to look elsewhere, although there are a number of diesel powerplants in other Saabs that would do just fine.

In the meantime, however, the V6 turbo gives the kind of performance expected of a 300bhp powerplant. With the Drive Sense system set in Eco mode, the 9-4X maximises economy by reducing the sharpness of the throttle response and makes the gearbox shift into high gears early.

That works fine at lower speeds, but on the open road Comfort or Sport modes demonstrate the full performance. It may not be the absolute fastest of the compact SUVs, but it's hard to imagine needing something quicker.

There's a good balance between comfort and handling in terms of the suspension, too, again helped by the Drive Sense system which electronically adjusts damper setting to the driver's needs. The 20-inch wheels certainly contribute to a ride that is a fraction firmer than most, but few buyers would find fault with comfort levels. On the flip side, the 9-4X is happy to be hustled through a series of bends, giving little indication of its size and weight.

The 9-4X has few downsides: inevitably, the petrol engine is relatively thirsty compared to diesel rivals, but to a degree this is offset by the very generous standard specification.

Just one model in the range comes complete with satellite navigation, Bose audio system with 10GB hard drive and DAB radio, electric front seats with heating and cooling, keyless entry and a rear-view camera all as standard.

With prices likely to put it between premium rivals and more mainstream offerings, the Saab 9-4X will meet the needs of many while also appealing to those with a streak of individuality.

The introduction of a powerful diesel option would offer a real threat to the best in the class.

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle.
That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD).
A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

Hawks eye Spurs friendly

THE Hawks hope to set up a pre-season friendly against a Spurs XI as they seek to build up a relationship with the North London Premiership club.

Five home friendlies have already been organised, but there are spare dates on Tuesday August 2 and Tuesday August 9 for a game with the Lilywhites.

Hawks co-owner Tom Cunningham said: "I have been speaking to Alex Inglethorpe [the U-18 team coach at Spurs] and we will see what can be done."

"We want to build a relationship with Spurs. Darren Day [U-18 left-back at Spurs] would have played for us last season but for paperwork problems."

He added: "We could have two or three players [from the Spurs U-18 team] for the start of next season."

Harlow will start their pre-season campaign with a home friendly against close rivals Bishop's Stortford on Saturday July 23 (KO 3pm).

This will be followed by a plum home match against nPower League One club Leyton Orient on Tuesday July 26 (KO 7.45pm).

Cunningham said: "Leyton Orient approached us for a game and that is good for us. We could get crowds for this game and the Stortford one."

Other home friendlies that have been arranged are against AFC Hornchurch (Saturday July 30), Thurrock (Saturday August 6) and Hendon (Saturday August 13). All kick-off at 3pm.

Daniel doubles up with gold medals

GIFTED athlete Daniel Yaxley won two gold medals and claimed another podium spot plus two personal bests (PB) last weekend.

The 18-year-old Harlow College student recorded a comfortable win in the junior men's 800m (2 mins 1 sec) at the Eastern Athletic Championships on Saturday.

The event, held at Cambridge, was marked by blustery conditions.

Yaxley gained a bronze in the junior men's 400m in 53.4s.

On Sunday, Yaxley competed for his club Woodford Green with Essex Ladies AC in the National Junior League at Chelmsford.

He was 4th in the 800m (1:58) and then ran a personal best (PB) of 4:13.5 when he finished 5th in the 1,500m.

Yaxley was also part of the winning 4x400m relay team. He took his team from third to first on the third leg in a blistering personal best of 51.00s.

Eleanor Moss (13), a Passmores School student, gained a silver medal in the Eastern Championships with a throw of 22.78m in U-15 girls javelin.

Girls: Come and try rugby!

HARLOW Rugby Club are hosting a 'Come and Try It' open day for girls aged 12-15 this Sunday.

The session is being organised by the very successful Harlow Ladies team.

Hopefuls need to turn up at the Elizabeth Way club by 11am for the trial.

For more information email girls@harlow-rugby.co.uk

HARLOW Greyhounds Stadium selections for Friday June 3:- 7.30pm Barra Queen; 7.45pm Archies Joy; 8pm Mushroom; 8.15pm Hes Getting Nearer; 8.30pm Barra Em; 8.45pm Reeve Kay; 9pm Sims Mag; 9.15pm Flying Thumper (NB); 9.30pm Riviers Rebel; 9.45pm Hutton Mel (NAP); 10pm Hades Noirin; 10.15pm Bourneville.

Scoreboard adds up thanks to power firm windfall

HARLOW Cricket Club has been boosted by a £250 windfall from electricity company UK Power Networks which has paid for a new scoreboard.

Craig Messenger, whose sons George, (18), and Jake, (13), both play for Harlow, applied for the Team Sport Award from his employer, UK Power Networks.

Messenger is an engineer whose job involves repairing and maintaining the electricity networks in the Harlow and Enfield areas. He said: "You used to just pin the numbers on the old scoreboard and they often ended up all over the floor! "It's much easier to have one where the numbers just flick round. Sometimes the smaller things like the scoreboard do get overlooked."

The Team Sports Awards scheme is designed to encourage UK Power Networks staff to volunteer in the community.

It is also aimed at promoting healthy living, teamwork and the development of sporting opportunities.

Ex-Hammers ace on the ball with coaching course

ASPIRING Pep Guardiola can become experts in the beautiful game by studying a new two-year football course at Harlow College.

Former West Ham United professional Steve Blaney is running the course.

Trials takes place at Harlow College on June 21.

The course which starts in September and covers the principles of coaching, active leadership, sports leadership and fitness coaching.

Ex-Harlow Town midfielder Blaney, who is Senior Tutor in Sport and Football Academy Coach at the Velizy Avenue centre, will put the wannabe coaches through their paces.

Blaney, who is a former Wales U-21 international, said: "It gives youngsters coaching skills and you can go out afterwards and get a job."

By DAVID RIMMER
david.rimmer@hertsessexnews.co.uk

"It is education first. If you do not do the work [studying] you do not play football."

He added: "I had nothing when I finished my pro career. I had two GCSEs to my name and I was left on the scrapheap."

"But I got my coaching qualification and the college gave me a chance to coach here and I've been here for eight years now."

"Harlow College changed my life so I'm happy to give something back to the kids here."

Youngsters will also get the chance to play football and Harlow College hope to enter a team in the Youth Conference Football League next season.

The course was first run as a pilot scheme and has helped forge a unique and innovative partnership with primary schools in Harlow through the HSSP (Harlow School Sports Partnership). Through this venture, more than 200 children received free football coaching.

This approach gives the new coaches valuable experience and the chance to put into practice what they were learning on the course.

HSSP Development Manager George Gardiner explained: "This is a perfect example of what working in partnership can achieve – the school children have received some excellent coaching while the college students have used the opportunity to improve their coaching skills working with real participants."

Blaney added: "It has enabled us to get real-life experience of coaching for our students."

"They learn so much more from actually delivering coaching sessions rather than sitting in a classroom and just completing the theoretical side of the course."

For more details call Steve Blaney on 07710 512482.

League backs 9-a-side games

WEST Essex & East Herts League spokesman Bob Earll has backed changes to youth football, introduced by the FA, which will make it easier for boys to make the step up to 11-a-side.

From next season many leagues, including the WE&EH League (the old Harlow Recreational League) will switch to 9-a-side for U-11s.

This will bridge the gap from 7-a-side (at U-10) to the bigger version of the game, which involves bigger pitches.

"Next season sees the introduction of 9 a-side football at U11 age group which I am sure will make the transition to 11-a-side easier, especially for goalkeepers," said Earll.

A season that was severely disrupted by the weather during December and January finally came to an end on Sunday May 22 with the Super Cup finals for the U-13 and U-15 age groups.

Both cup finals went to extra time and penalties.

Earll added: "A big thank you goes to all the clubs, managers, coaches and parents for turning out each week and to the players for their commitment in all games."

"The real winners are those that turn out every week and play this great game of ours."

"I would also like to thank the referees for their efforts this season, a group of people who are often overlooked for praise and thanks. Also, thanks to the League officials for their work in making sure this League survives each season against competition from other much bigger leagues."

William Martin seal Spalding Cup win

WILLIAM Martin C of E Junior School's Year 6 football team celebrated victory in the Spalding Cup final.

The Harlow school beat St Albans Primary School 3-0 in the final.

Terrific goals were scored by Tom Middleditch, Harrison Cook and Danny Wickenden.

A number of excellent saves were also made by William Martin's keeper Harry Burton.

Most primary schools in Harlow sent a team to the tournament at Passmores School.

Janet Matthews, head teacher at William Martin, said: "I'm tremendously proud of our talented team and they have certainly set a high standard of play for others in the school to aspire to."

"A massive thanks must also go to Troy Mead, the manager, and Angela Brister for all the time and support they have given to the team."

Club's £50,000 equipment and makeover boost

By ALAN SCOTT
Sports Editor
alan.scott@hertsexnews.co.uk

PINNACLE have added the finishes touches to a £50,000 investment programme which has transformed the Manor of Groves Golf Club in High Wych.

The golf ball manufacturers look after the excellent facilities at the High Wych Road venue – and the club's head PGA professional Ben Goodey boldly claims they have made the East Herts hub the 'best golf course locally'.

Much of the money (£35,000) has been spent on new equipment for head greenkeeper Damien Bowe, but there have also been major improvements to some of the holes.

Bowe's new equipment will enable him to keep the greens and fairways in even better condition.

The biggest change on the course has seen the introduction of a ditch at the fourth hole.

This has dramatically improved the drainage for this hole, plus the fifth and the sixth. "They have also put in a big pond so all the water drains into that [ditch]," explained Goodey.

Pinnacle have spent in the region of £50,000 in the two years since they took over maintenance of the High Wych course.

Goodey said: "The grass is lush. You are not hitting off bald

IN THE SAND: Manor of Groves' head PGA professional Ben Goodey chips out of the new bunker at the 13th (HSP0722478) patches. The course is on par with some of the best in the country. We are one of the best courses around now.

"I don't see better than this, definitely not locally. It's a privilege to play out there."

This year's changes include:

● 3rd medal and 5th ladies tees made bigger and laid with fresh turf

● 4th medal/men's and 14th ladies' tees stripped, relevelled and freshly turfed

● 5th approach relandscaped for smoother approach to green

● 13th and 14th bunker banks rebuilt and freshly turfed

- all bunkered edged and sand levels raised where required
- trees removed on 4th and 6th tees for easier tee shots
- long rough cut back
- hedges cut on 3rd, 15th, 16th and 14th
- scrub clearance on various areas round course
- new tee markers

Other plans include resurfacing paths across the course, widening the 11th tee bridge, building new steps for the fourth tee, seeding all old winter tee mat areas and work on improving fairways.

Bowe said: "I would like to thank my team for their excellent hard work especially during the snow when they worked hard on the course to get tree and hedge work done, while most greenkeepers at other courses would have gone home."

"We look forward to the summer when with a bit of sun we can all enjoy the end products of the course improvements done over the past few months."

Pinnacle have extended their contract to maintain the course by a further two years.

The Chelmsford-based company agreed a new deal with Manor of Groves owner Stephen Hung earlier this year.

And the investment is paying off as the club has seen more member renewals this year than in many previous years, while holidaymakers are taking advantage of the weekend breaks and staying at the on-site hotel for two- or three-day golf breaks.

Clients from Scandinavia, particularly Iceland and Sweden, plus also Germany are staying at the resort in huge numbers, said Goodey.

Parsloe secure HDFL premier division title

PARSLOE Athletic wrapped up the premier division title in the Harlow & District Football League after a 3-0 home win against Maypole Athletic on Monday.

Parsloe finished two points ahead of second-placed Rouge Lyon, who won 2-1 at Risden Wood the previous day.

This meant Parsloe, with a much better goal difference, needed just a point from their final game.

In division one, Maypole need a win in their final game to seal the title. Maypole can go level with leaders Harberts but have a better goal difference.

DEBUT JOY: Anthony Webb earns the congratulations of his team-mates after taking a Wickford wicket on his debut for Harlow last Saturday (HSP0740348)

Stay sharp

Skipper warns against complacency - and wants revenge on Leigh-on-Sea!

LUKE Heskett has urged his Harlow side to stay razor sharp for their match at third-placed Leigh-on-Sea this Saturday.

This was after a 10-man Harlow side achieved a narrow home victory over Wickford five days ago, leaving the Marigolds men sharing top spot with Walthamstow on 80 points.

Heskett said: "It's a big game this Saturday. We know Leigh are more than capable and they beat us in the league cup earlier this season.

"If we can win, it should help to open up the gap a bit. We will have Haris Afridi back [from a side strain injury]. It gives us another fast bowling option and he will strengthen the top order batting."

Facing Wickford's score of 213, Harlow were saved by Ahmed Khawaja who made a brilliant 116 not out.

Harlow only had 10 after Wajaharat

Husnain, named on the team sheet, had failed to show up.

They started poorly with openers Rehman Ahmed and Luke Monger removed for ducks, while Nino Calvino fell cheaply for 7 and Conor Ramsay departed for 0, leaving the hosts reeling on 48-4.

Brian Kulasekera (33 from 23 balls) combined well with Khawaja in a stand of 58 before the former was stumped off Wickford's impressive spinner Chirag Desai.

Young debutant Anthony Webb went for 1, leaving Harlow staring at defeat on 115-6.

Heskett made 24 in 28 balls before he was dismissed and Matt Nobes followed for 7.

Number 10 and last man Andy McGarry joined Khawaja on 173 with 42 runs still

McGarry faced 21 balls without scoring to allow Khawaja enough time to hit the remaining runs and pass 100 for the first time this season.

Heskett said: "The batting display was not good from the majority of the top order. However, with match winners in the side like Khawaja you always have a chance and he proved that in his matchwinning innings. McGarry showed good resilience."

Earlier, Harlow fielded with 11 as substitute Sam Flowers filled in.

Wickford slipped to 28-2 with McGarry picking up two early wickets.

Medium pacer Webb took two wickets including the dangerous Tanvir Alam for 31. Heskett bowled Marcus Bowers for 10 and Wickford were struggling at 82-5.

Useful knocks came from Chirag Desai (27) and Dean Etchells (34), while Wickford skipper Andy Baker struck an excellent 57 to ensure Wickford reached 213.

Khawaja took 3-35 and McGarry claimed 3-29.

Heskett added: "We did well to restrict them to 213. Anthony Webb started nervously with the ball but once he found his rhythm he bowled well."

Title blow for Town as unbeaten run ends

THE unbeaten run of Harlow Town came to an end as they slipped to a narrow defeat at South Loughton.

However, Town still remain top of the Herts & Essex Cricket League division one by a point, after taking nine bonus points from Saturday's reverse.

Town won the toss and chose to bowl on a pitch where wickets looked ripe for the taking, but the visitors failed to make the desired early breakthrough. Loughton opening batsmen Mark Stokes and Lee Baker put on 134 for the first wicket before Shiraz Ali ran out the former for 55.

This wicket brought a change in fortunes and Simon Rowell (3-38) and Dan Calver (3-21) took more wickets including that of Baker for 76 as Town begun to make better use of the wicket.
